

TRENDING: Hilltoppers baseball squad still the talk of the town

SEARCH

NEWS ▾

SEEN

OBITS

SPORTS

POLICE REPORTS

VIEWPOINTS

CLASSIFIEDS

E-EDITION

SHOP ▾

WEATHER

LOGIN ▾

EFFORTS CONTINUING FOR THE SALE OF CANAJOHARIE BEECH-NUT PLANT

Posted by Webmaster | Jun 21, 2012 | News | 0 |

By LINDA KELLETT
C-S-E News Staff

CANAJOHARIE – Gleaming in the dazzling summer sunlight, the sprawling complex long housing the Beech-Nut Nutrition Corp.'s production and warehouse facilities loomed larger than life early this week. Encompassing 27 acres along the New York State Thruway, the facility's 851,000 square feet lay dormant, slumbering after a century of hard toil. But the cavernous complex isn't ready for the wrecking ball yet.

Beech-Nut employees wielding trimmers and rakes were in evidence early this month, pruning shrubs

LOGIN

USERNAME

PASSWORD

LOGIN

Lost

my Password

ADVERTISING

MOST POPULAR STORIES

Letter To Editor/Scholarship - 09/09/2016

214 views | 1 comment | posted on September 9, 2016

EPA to remove three crumbling Arkell and

Designed by Elegant Themes | Powered by WordPress

Contact Mobile Apps Weather Newsletter Signup Privacy Policy

